

Straight Talk on Collecting Photography

Packing Your Artwork

This week we are continuing our series on collecting photography. We have produced a series of videos along with added illustrations and handouts that can be viewed weekly on our website. We hope to cover many aspects that we feel are important to both beginning and seasoned collectors. The topics for the videos are a result of many conversations we have had in our gallery with visitors over the past forty years.

This week's video focuses on packing your artwork for shipping. David gives a hands on demonstration on how to best pack matted prints to ensure safe travels while in transit.

Along with the video we want to provide you with resources for materials shown in today's video, to help you pack and store your collection. Here are a few of the suppliers we have used over the years. We are also always happy to recommend professional art handlers and shippers to help with all of your packing needs.

Air Float Systems

Archival Methods

Gaylord

Light Impressions

Masterpak

Please visit our website to view our current exhibition

How Exquisitely Human We Are June 9th - July 31st, 2021

Luis González Palma (b. 1957)
La Mirada Crítica (The Critical Stare), 1998

We have updated our website and created a new section for Works by Various Artists. This page includes a wonderful variety of photographs. We will be posting new inventory on this page as it arrives at the gallery.

We again want to thank you for your feedback and wonderful responses. Your emails and calls mean the world to us and continue to motivate.

Many of you have also asked about accessing our previous emails. We have added a new page on our website entitled “History of Photography”. All our past and future weekly mailings will be located there for viewing. Please feel free to share them and encourage interested parties to join our mailing list under “contact”.

Thank you, please stay safe, healthy, productive, and involved.

Please visit our website www.photographydealers.com to view our current inventory.